A Phenomenal Sale of Men's Fine Suits.

The Saturday before July Fourth is generally one of the busiest of the entire season. No doubt we could reach very satisfactory figures without any special effort, but peculiar circumstances prompt us to make a most extraordinary effort for this Great Clothing Day.

The circumstances are these: We have on our counters some 5,000 suits that are not strictly regular—hundreds of small lots left over from recent great purchases and the special sales following them -- and of none of these hundreds of different lots can we get any more.

We have therefore decided to arrange a peremptory Clearance Sale of the

All told the assortment is most remarkable — embracing every new style, every proper style, every successful style of the season-not one suit in the 5,000 worth less than $12.00 and many of them worth up

Our Annual Double-Value

Begins To-Morrow, Saturday, June 29th.

The mere mention of it ought, and no doubt will, fill our enlarged Shoe Department with a great throng of appreciative and economical people. The curious and the sceptical will naturally want to know why it is that we can afford to sell such good shoes at such low prices right in the middle of the Summer sea-

Here's why: All well-regulated shoe factories are closed during the month of July for stocktaking, repairs, etc. When they reopen they start making Fall and Winter shoes. Rather than carry over any Summer shoes, they sacrifice them at the best obtainable cash price. For this reason, and in this way, we secured many thousand pairs of high grade shoes and Oxfords for men, women and children at about half their actual worth. These will go on sale to-morrow for the first time, and while the sale lasts New Yorkers will have the opportunity of buying seasonable, Fowler Cycle Works, containing such choice stylish footwear of a good quality at prices that won't be possible again this year. You may be sure to find just what you want, as there are all sizes in all lots. Plenty of experienced salespeople to serve you and assist in making selections.
